The information contained in this material is not a solicitation to purchase or sell investments. Any information presented is general in nature and not intended to provide individually tailored investment advice. The strategies and/or investments referenced may not be suitable for all investors as the appropriateness of a particular investment or strategy will depend on an investor's individual circumstances and objectives. Investing involves risks and there is always the potential of losing money when you invest.

Structured Products are unsecured obligations of an issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying instrument. Investing in a structured product involves significant risks, such as the credit risk of the issuer, potential downside market risk and limited or no liquidity. Please see any relevant offering documents for a detailed discussion of the applicable risks, terms and tax information prior to investing in a structured product. UBS Financial Services Inc. does not guarantee in any way the financial condition of any structured product issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by such issuer.

Investors should be aware that alternative investments are speculative, subject to substantial risks (including the risks associated with limited liquidity, the use of leverage, short sales and concentrated investments), may involve complex tax structures, strategies and may not be appropriate for all investors. Alternative investments may not be required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors, there may be delays in distributing tax information to investors, they are not subject to the same regulatory requirements and protections as mutual funds, and they may be subject to high fees and expenses, which will reduce profits and returns. Alternative investments are not deposits or obligations of, or guaranteed or endorsed by, any bank or other insured depository institution, and are not federally insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Federal Reserve Board or any other governmental agency. They should not constitute an entire investment program. Alternative investment strategies are investment vehicles that are formed by professional money managers to afford them greater flexibility to manage money in any market environment. These strategies typically have flexibility regarding the types of securities in which they can invest (e.g., derivatives such as swaps, options and futures contracts), the types of positions they can take (e.g., long and short positions) and the amount of leverage they are permitted to employ. A professional money manager can use these and other techniques to modify market exposure and create portfolio characteristics that may be desirable for certain clients (e.g., reduced correlation to financial markets, potential lower volatility, and performance in "down" markets). This flexibility can add value when used skillfully. This flexibility can, however, add additional elements of risk and complexity, especially because alternative investments are often long-term, illiquid investments that are not easily valued. Note that due to the nature of alternative investments, the risk and return assumptions used in this analysis may tend to overstate potential benefits but not fully reflect potential risks with respect to those investments.

Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and in some instances integrate the analysis of environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into the investment process and portfolio. Strategies across geographies and styles approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or Sustainable Investing considerations may inhibit the portfolio manager's ability to participate in certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with its investment objective and other principal investment strategies. The returns on a portfolio consisting primarily of ESG or sustainable investments may be lower or higher than a portfolio where such factors are not considered by the portfolio manager. Because sustainability criteria can exclude some investments, investors may not be able to take advantage of the same opportunities or market trends as investors that do not use such criteria. Companies may not necessarily meet high performance standards on all aspects of ESG or sustainable investing issues; there is also no guarantee that any company will meet expectations in connection with corporate responsibility, sustainability, and/or impact performance. Insurance products including annuities are made available by UBS Financial Services Insurance Agency Inc. or other insurance licensed subsidiaries of UBS Financial Services Inc. through third-party unaffiliated insurance companies.

Borrowing using securities as collateral involves special risks, is not suitable for everyone and may not be appropriate for client needs. All loans are subject to credit approval, margin requirements, and margin call and other risks; credit lines may be subject to breakage fees. For a full discussion of the risks associated with borrowing using securities as collateral, clients should review the Loan Disclosure Statement included in their application package/account opening package. UBS Financial Services Inc. (UBS-FS) and its Financial Advisors have a financial incentive to recommend the use of securities backed loans, rather than the sale of securities to meet cash needs because we receive compensation related to the loan as well as the investments used to secure the loan. We benefit if your client draw down on their loan to meet liquidity needs rather than sell securities or other investments, and have a financial incentive to recommend products or manage an account in order to maximize the amount of the loan. UBS-FS and its Financial Advisors and employees offer banking and lending products to clients through our affiliates and third-party banks in our capacity as a broker-dealer and not as an investment adviser.

UBS Bank USA, UBS-FS, their employees and affiliates do not provide legal or tax advice. Clients should contact their personal tax and/or legal advisors regarding their particular situations, including the legal and tax implications of borrowing using securities as collateral for a loan.
