Defense Industry Outlook

Attractive opportunities for business owners to grow or exit

Join us for a discussion on the evolving defense industry landscape with Tejes Dessai, Director of Thematic Research at Global X ETFs. Global defense spending is accelerating as governments work to increase production, rebuild inventories, modernize capabilities, and support emerging technologies. For aerospace and defense business owners, these trends are creating compelling opportunities for expansion, strategic positioning, and potential exit planning.

We'll breakdown:

- Defense spending trends: where investment is growing, where priorities are shifting, and where potential headwinds may emerge
- Supply chain gaps: changing domestic production needs and single-source supplier bottlenecks
- Putting ideas into action: plan for growth, fight for talent, and prepare for the eventual exit or transition of your business
